The Japan Foundation Japanese Language Basic Test has determined that you have reached a level of Japanese language proficiency that allows you to have a certain level of daily conversation and that does not interfere with your daily life.

You were assessed to have reached a level of Japanese language proficiency in Japan Foundation Test for Basic Japanese to be able to engage in everyday conversation to a certain extent and without difficulties in daily life.

The correct answer rate for each section is as follows.

The percentage of correct answers for each section are as follows.

How to look at the level of Japanese language proficiency

- The Japan Foundation Japanese Language Basic Test determines whether a person has enough Japanese language ability to have a certain level of daily conversation and not have any problems in daily life.
- As a guideline for the above Japanese language proficiency, we assume that you are a language user at the A2 level of the "JF Japanese Language Education Standard."
- The language proficiency scale of the "JF Japanese Language Education Standards" is based on the six levels of the CEFR.
- Japan Foundation Test for Basic Japanese assesses whether you have the Japanese language proficiency to be able to engage in everyday conversation to a certain extent and without difficulties in daily life.
- As a reference point to the Japanese language proficiency stated above, this corresponds to language users at the A2 level of the JF Standard for Japanese-Language Education.
- The language proficiency scale of the JF Standard for Japanese-Language Education conforms to the six levels of CEFR.

A2 level

- Can frequently understand used sentences and expressions related to areas that are directly relevant, such as very basic personal and family information, shopping, neighborhood, and work.
- Able to exchange information about familiar, everyday matters as long as it is simple and routine.
- Can explain in simple terms one's own background, one's immediate surroundings, and matters in areas of immediate need.

A2 level

- Can understand sentences and frequently used expressions related to areas of most immediate relevance (eg very basic personal and family information, shopping, local geography, employment)
